CURRICULUM

JENNIFER B. THORESON

BIO

Born in Boston, Massachusetts, in 1979, Jennifer B. Thoreson is a contemporary photographer and visual artist. Her process involves creation of abstract objects, restructuring architectural spaces and scenographic production using various elements, to subsequently create photographs that are tremendously personal and committed.

Today she lives and works in Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she works in different fields and teaches. Her work has been exhibited both nationally and internationally.

The elements we can see in her work, selected and created by the artist, play a role as fundamental in her art as the photograph itself. Thoreson explains, "When I discover a worldly or unwanted object, I take it to my space, clean it, restore it, giving it a new purpose. It feels as if he was born again".

In the same way, through his art, Thoreson invites the observer to participate in a process of self-renewal while exploring the complexities of human relationships and the ways in which brokenness can lead to redemption and healing.
